NEWS FROM THE
STATE CAPITAL

Herald Salem Bureau

SALEM, Sept. 21.—(Special)—A fairly good, though not more than ordinary satisfactory result was shown in a test of Salem gas made by Fred A. Rasch, an expert of the public service commission. Pressure test was not quite up to standard.

Governor Olcott has written to the district attorneys of Multnomah, Clatsop and Coos counties, calling their attention to the reported pilfering of vessels loading and unloading at those ports. The matter was called to the attention of the governor by the United States shipping board, which has been experiencing the same trouble in all maritime states.

S. S. Corbin, who escaped from the state penitentiary September 2, was captured in Portland last Monday. He is doing time for larceny committed in Multnomah county.

James Crawford, who for the last year has been assistant state treasurer, has resigned to accept an appointment as official reporter for the state supreme court.

Frost recently destroyed vegetables in the gardens at the state hospital for the insane valued at about $5,000.

Seventy-five homeseekers from Kansas and Nebraska are expected to arrive in the Willamette valley September 29. They will be entertained at the state fair and at the Salem Commercial club. They will also visit Eugene, Corvallis and Albany.

The state irrigation securities commission has received from the Medford irrigation district an application for state guarantee of interest on $800,000 bonds. The issue has been approved by the commission. It is part of a proposed issue of $1,250,000.

The Malin and Shasta View irrigation districts have applied to the state engineering department for approval. Both are located near the California line south of Klamath Falls. They are of 4,555 and 5,600 acres respectively.

The largest gasoline sales for a single month to be reported to the secretary of state since the gasoline tax came into vogue early in 1919, is that of the Standard Oil company for August. Sales of gasoline aggregated $3,692,308 and distillate $311,880, on which the total tax was $76,724.35. The statement of the Associated Oil company for the month shows 907,954 gallons of gasoline and 52,607 gallons of distillate sold. The tax paid was $18,948.19.

No Oregon law requires that money seized in a gambling raid shall be forfeited, says an opinion of Attorney General Van Winkle in reply to an inquiry made by the district attorney for Coos county.

The law requiring that the state forester provide sufficient fire patrol for timber lands in Oregon applies to such property owned by a county and by it acquired through foreclosure for taxes, according to an opinion of Attorney General Van Winkle, written in reply to an inquiry by F. A. Elliott, state forester.

The public utility act is not broad enough to give the public service commission jurisdiction over questions of preservation of scenic beauty, says the public commission in an order recommending that the state highway commission and the Postal Telegraph company confer and attempt to agree on the placement of poles along the Columbia River highway between Astoria and Globe. The Postal company is asked to desist from setting poles until a conference can be held.

Miss Grace Smith of Salem is the first woman ever to be appointed assistant attorney general in Oregon, and few ever have been accorded the honor in the United States. Her appointment was announced Friday by Attorney General Van Winkle. She takes the place of J. A. Benjamin, who is transferred to the post of special assistant, where much of his attention will be given to preparing briefs in the litigation department.

The world war veterans bonus and loan commission has appointed four attorneys in Multnomah county to pass upon the abstracts of ex-service men applying for loans. They are R. L. Sahin Jr., James F. Alexander, F. M. Phelps and John A. Beckwith, each to have a separate district.

Out of a total of 462 industrial accidents reported to the state industrial accident commission for the week ending September 15, seven were fatal. They were John Hammer, St. Helens, laborer; Wm. F. Atwood, brakeman of Mohler; Victor Boon, laborer of Toledo; Eugene Daniels, laborer of Kerry; James Syer, sawmill miller of Westport; Antonio Guilmont, miner of Susanville; James T. Richardson, road patrolman of Eugene.

October 28 will be observed in the schools of Oregon as Frances E. Willard day, according to J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of schools.

The office of Adjutant General White is in receipt of checks of $1,771.05 and $1,452.36 from the war department for distribution among the members of the coast artillery companies of Medford and Marshfield, respectively.

Governor Olcott has addressed a letter to all district attorneys of counties on the lines of the Southern Pacific company and the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company, urging them to enforce the law against men who steal rides on railroad trains. Frequent burglaries of houses along those roads are attributed to the class of men who "beat" their way on the trains.

THE STRAND

Flapjacks have played an important role in the history of the West. The flapjack artist has supplied the gastronomical ammunition that enabled the cowboys and pioneers of the early days to conquer the vast wastes that lay beyond the Mississippi.

Flapjacks helped to mould the soul of Gwendolyn Marton, wife of the grim-faced camper, Harvey Marton, who brooded on revenge. He had learned that his wife was too soft, too steeped in luxury. He had discovered that the money of his millionaire father had corrupted himself as well. His flabby muscles and soft body had given way before the smashing blow of the man who had taken his wife into his arms and kissed her. Harvey Marton, therefore, was spending his time in a mountain camp hardening his muscles and training his body for the great struggle that was to smash him into manhood or beat him into disgrace. And his wife, used to gowns, social affairs, maids and ready-made meals, was cooking flapjacks and preparing coffee.

"Old Loves for New" at the Strand theater tonight is a play of environment, redemption and the punch, both literally and figuratively.
